II) It was also noted that cited reference teaches renewal process by using controller, which provides monitoring and diagnostic mechanism and then renew control program when it analyzed with intervals and provide status. Thus limitations are met by the reference.

III) It was also noted that reference convert electric signals (see figures 3-10), therefore limitations are met by the reference.

IV) Reference also suggests updating the software accordance with renewal control program (column 32, lines 30-34). Thus limitations are met by the reference.
